THE REVIEW PUBLISHING CO.
1215 PINE STREET.
CLARKSON IN OFF.
The Morning Review's telegraphic news of the election yesterday morning were the fullest, latest, and most complete. We were able to present the returns from 765 voting places in Ohio, in addition to the vote of Hamilton county, while the best that "unreliable pretenses" could do to present the returns from 449 voting places.

Now the Review is unable to state what is meant by pretenses in the above. A pretty thorough knowledge of the Herald man would lead one to say that he regards all as pretenses who dare to do business on the same side of the earth with himself. This makes us think that the Review is regarded as a pretender by the would-be master on North Main street. Such being the case, let us see about the election dispatches.

First, every one ought to be at least suspicious that the statement of the Herald is not true. This has become a matter of course. But if there is still any one in the city who has the slightest suspicion that the Herald can, under the greatest provocation, tell the truth, let him take a peep at the Review of Wednesday morning. He will there see that our dispatches include over 700 voting places in Ohio. Now look up this matter if you wish to form some adequate idea of the amount of shameless brass there is in the Herald's puff of itself.

But there is another story connected with these dispatches. We would like to know where the Herald got its dispatches. On Tuesday night the Review and the Despatch paid for every special that appeared in these papers. These specials were furnished by the United Press. Now we understand that no purse was made up for the Western Union ballistics, and hence no one had authority to take them of the wires in Decatur. The Herald got nothing from the United Press, or at least did not help to pay for anything. Now where did the Herald get its dispatches? We would like to know if there is any honest scheme by which telegrams can be got for nothing.

Now the messenger who carried the special to the Review and the Despatch says that the baron mogul of the Herald planted himself in the telegraph office, Tuesday night, and that he was seen reading specials that other people paid for, and that he had been heretofore regarded as a private property. He had no right to look at them, and would not have been allowed to do so had the operator's attention been called to this singular style of journalism.

Manifest copies were made of all specials by the Review and the Despatch, so that there must have been another copy of the last special referring to the Ohio election. The one intended for the Review came to hand all right. But somehow or other the one intended for the Despatch did not make its appearance in that paper Wednesday morning. Now what became of that last special? Will the newspaper man who sat inside the railing at the telegraph office Tuesday night tell us what he knows about its disappearance, if he knows anything.

It looks as if the Herald got something for which other people were allowed to pay, or at least something for which it did not pay? Now if the Herald wishes to remove this very natural impression, will it allow the records at the Western Union office to be examined in order to see how many words it paid for on Tuesday night? Then if it get more words than it paid for, will it be high time to rise and explain. Now let us hear from you fellows.

THE RAIN HARP.
When out of doors is full of rain,
Look out through the window pane,
And see the branches of the trees,
Like people dancing to the breeze.

They hop, they skip, they cross and meet,
And never stop to rest or retreat,
They reach the end of the quadrille,
And then they start all over again.

I listen, and I hear the sound
Of music beating all around,
And fancy 'tis the breeze who plays
Upon his harp on stormy days.

The strings are made of rain, and when
The branches wish to dance again,
They whisper to the breeze, and she
Begins another melody.

I've heard him play the pretty things
Upon these shadowy, shimmering strings,
And when he's done—he's very sharp—
He always hides away his harp.

Opheles for the Black Opheles.
Mr. Ira Albridge was a man who, being black, always picked out the fairest woman he could to play Desdemona with him, not because she was capable of acting the part, but because she had a fair head. One of the great laws of "business" that he used to do was to pick out the fairest woman he could to play Desdemona with him, not because she was capable of acting the part, but because she had a fair head.

MORNING REVIEW

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1888.

GENERAL AND PERSONAL.

J. W. Race has returned from Chicago. Capt. L. N. Martin is going to Chicago to-day. Dr. T. P. Hubbell went to Mowqua last night. Dr. L. Vigus came down last night from Chicago. Frank Shull was at Springfield yesterday afternoon. J. P. Farris and wife came up yesterday from Nanticoke. Mrs. E. P. Mortimer, of Monticello, is the guest of Mrs. J. W. Race. James Kahn has returned from a two days visit at Atlanta, Ill. Robert Johnson went to Tascosa yesterday to attend a wedding. Mrs. Joe Miller, of Blue Mound, was a visitor yesterday to Decatur. Dr. E. T. Hilligoss came up yesterday from Dalton City to Decatur. Mrs. James Freeman is quite ill at her home on North College street. Dr. E. P. Hilligoss, ex-postmaster of Dalton City, was in town yesterday. Rev. P. W. Clappett, of Springfield, visited Rev. M. M. Goodwin yesterday. Miss Bartha Thompson, of Monticello, is the guest of Mrs. W. L. Shulzbarger. E. R. Bruce, of Rensselaer, Ind., is in the city on a visit to his cousin, Mrs. Dr. J. N. Bills. Mrs. E. H. Jones, after an absence of seven weeks in Topeka, Kas., has returned home. Sherry Ehlman, who has been sick a week, expects to be back in the postoffice to-day. I. Schureman was packing his household goods yesterday, preparatory to removing to Chicago. Miss Flora Albert, of Poloma, Ill., is visiting the family of C. W. Frew, at 402 South Main street. Mrs. John Daly has returned to Pana after a visit in Decatur with the family of Thomas Clark. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sihel, of Huntville, Ala., are the guests of their uncle, James Milligan and family. Rev. W. R. Bankson is conducting a protracted meeting at the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Cato. Miss Clara Watson returned last night from a visit of three or four weeks at Tazewell and Vincennes, Ind. Miss Anna Grant has returned from Clifton, Ill., and is again the guest of Mrs. Sihel, on East Eldorado street. T. N. Leavitt and wife, of Marion, were in Decatur yesterday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kingsley, of York, Neb. Mrs. Moly Main, of Columbia City, Ind., is the guest in Decatur of her brother, P. B. Provost, on North Monroe street. Mrs. M. Mark and children left yesterday morning for Tascosa to attend the wedding of Miss Fera Ervin to Charles Jones. Miss Mildred Kinnier, of Lynchburg, Va., arrived in the city yesterday from St. Louis, where she has been visiting for several days. In Decatur she will be the guest of her uncle, W. R. Scruggs.

Plan of the Trotting Association. R. Z. Taylor went to work yesterday to get subscriptions from the business men to a fund intended to secure the organization of the Decatur Trotting Association. The plan is to have a fund of $2,000 to $3,000 in cash, given outright to the company when organized. When that amount is promised, the association will be organized with a capital of stock of $10,000, and not a cent of the first fund is to be due until the stock is taken. The stockholders will be the leading business men of Decatur and Macon county. Already subscriptions to the amount of about $5,000 worth of stock have been secured.

The company will start out with a good foundation of a snug sum in cash for building a tract and buildings and some good stockholders to back it up when once organized. It is proposed to have two meetings a year—spring and fall—and to have the best horses here that are in this part of the country. Such meetings would be worth a great deal to the business men of Decatur. They would bring large crowds to the city and bring lots of money here that otherwise would be spent somewhere else. There is not a merchant in town who cannot afford to give something with the certainty of getting it all, and more, back in the first year.

Let's All Learn German. If an American can learn to speak and read German in five weeks, as Prof. Colby claims, there is no reason why we should not learn it. The time required is only one hour per day and the learner can choose either afternoon or evening classes. There is no study outside the classes and the hour in the classes is one of recreation. The Scranton (Pa.) Daily Times of Dec. 22, 1888, says: "The five weeks course which Prof. Colby has been conducting in this city closed last night, and the progress of those attending has been truly marvelous. Many who five weeks ago knew not a word of the language are now able to carry on conversation in German for hours at a time. The interest which accompanied the instruction was sustained to the close and all express unbounded satisfaction with the result."

Prof. Colby gives free illustrations of his system in the Hawthorn block to-day and to-morrow at 4:30 and 8 p. m. A Horse in a Hole. M. A. Helsenburg, a driver of a delivery wagon, left a blind horse standing in the street back of Bradley Bro's last night. The horse went off on a little exploring expedition and fell down an opening made for a quantity of rope, a big board, the advice of about a dozen men and the assistance of two or three got the animal out apparently unhurt. Why its neck, or all four legs at best, was not broken, is a mystery.

Sent to Jail. Gottlieb Grouble, the old German who drove his family out of the house, that he might have the whole place to himself while he spent the night in drinking up a jug of whiskey, was before Squire Curtis yesterday on a peace warrant. The justice required him to give a $50 bond to keep the peace, but he could not do that, and so went to jail to stay two months.

At the Grand. Ullie Akerson, the dancing girl, will be at the Grand on Monday and Tuesday. Julia Marlowe in "As You Like It," should have a big house on Wednesday, just to show our appreciation of a first-class performance.

The Calumet. A brilliant opening of an elegant home. The Public Reception last night as given by the Club in its elegant permanent quarters—music and flowers. If yesterday had been the fairest of all fair days, there might have been a few more people at the opening reception of the Calumet club, but it is difficult to see wherein those who were there could have had a more pleasant time, or have been any better received. This is the first reception of the young men. If their style of entertaining is to improve any with experience, it is difficult to imagine to what extremes of cordiality and hospitality they will eventually attain. They have started out like veterans.

The reception was from 5 till 11 and was, as intended, a general one to all who wished to inspect the rooms and see the elegant new home of the club. The full orchestra house orchestra was present the whole evening and furnished delightful music. The afternoon many called and departed in a few minutes, which, by the way, were well filled with admiring glances at the hand-somely furnished rooms. At night the company began to arrive about 8 o'clock and for the most part remained through the evening. The rooms were filled with a brilliant assemblage that included most of Decatur's young people, though there were many of mature years. At every convenient place in the rooms posted plants were placed. There were some magnificent specimens of chrysanthemums and carnations, together with palms and other tropical plants. For each guest a charming souvenir was provided. It was a gilded coin-cup pipe, with a bow of pink ribbon on the stem on which were the words, "Calumet Club, Nov. 7, 1888."

The rooms of the club are themselves well arranged and hand-somely, and have been finished and furnished in a manner that is not more noticeable for its elegance than for its perfect good taste. Ascending the stairway just north of the opera house entrance, the guests last night found at the top of the third flight a vestibule finished in natural wood.

THE CALUMET.

A BRILLIANT OPENING OF AN ELEGANT HOME.

The Public Reception last night as given by the Club in its elegant permanent quarters—music and flowers. If yesterday had been the fairest of all fair days, there might have been a few more people at the opening reception of the Calumet club, but it is difficult to see wherein those who were there could have had a more pleasant time, or have been any better received. ### RAILROAD NEWS.

E. E. Fleming, division freight agent at Springfield, was here yesterday. E. M. McAndrew came in last night from St. Louis and went to Chicago. Conductor Charles Buchanan of the T. H. & P. is laying off. Conductor Kerens is on his run. General Manager Burgeon, General Passenger Agent Stevens, and Trainmaster Ford, went up to Mackinac yesterday to inspect the new iron bridge that is being there.

A gang of carpenter will be here to-day to put a few shingles over the numberless holes in the roof of the baggage room, and to put a screw or two in the target. These are doubtless the extensive repairs that were promised a few weeks ago. The directors of the Chicago & Alton railroad company held a meeting yesterday at the general office in the Honore building and declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable Monday, Nov. 5, to the stockholders of record of Nov. 15. This makes 8 per cent dividend for this year. The Alton is the only western railroad company that paid so large a dividend this year. In passenger circles the opinion prevails that the roads in the central traffic territory and the western states passenger association territory, will agree to issue a 5,000 mile ticket, good over any line in the association. At present the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central and the Wisconsin Central are the only roads in the country issuing such tickets. Those of the Lake Shore and the Michigan Central are good on 30 roads; those of the Wisconsin Central on only their own lines.

THE SITUATION AT TERRE HAUTE.

THREE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 4.—The strikers at this point authorize the following statement: "Eight conductors on the Mackey lines are paid $2 per day and brakemen $1.90 per day. We demand an increase to 2 cents per mile for brakemen and 3 cents for conductors, which is the standard pay on all the other roads running in here. This would make brakemen's pay in the E. & T. H. $3.18 per day, and conductors' $3.27 on the distance to Evansville, 100 miles. Early this morning the switchmen in the yards did a small amount of work, but later also struck. They demand that the same pay be given to the yardmen at Evansville. The occasion of their strike began on the morning of the 1st. Two dollars and twenty-five cents per day for them, and $3.50 a day for the foremen. Excepting the passenger trains not a wheel is turning in the yards or on the road, as yet heard from.

Inter State League.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch. A meeting of the Central Interstate League was held at the Lindell Hotel yesterday afternoon, at which Joe Prioleau was formally installed as the President of the association, being elected president, secretary and treasurer. By some oversight he was not also made the board of directors, the following gentlemen being elected in his stead: H. E. Schmidt, Terre Haute; F. Fitzgerald, Quincy; C. E. Flynn, Peoria; M. A. Goldsmith, Evansville; F. W. Chamberlain, Burlington; Henderson Ridgely, Springfield. The last named was made chairman of the board. The Springfield club was awarded the pennant. The word "Central" was dropped from the name of the organization, which will hereafter be known as the Interstate League, and Terre Haute was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Devonport's dropping out. A salary limit of $1,300 was made for next season, and it was decided to resist any attempts which might be made by the other associations to grab their players.

An Independent Opera Singer.

That our popular comic opera singers are growing independent as the seasons roll by was proved to the writer the other day. A friend was calling on one of the best known, if not the very best known, performers in New York city, when the card of a dramatic agent was set up. The opera singer directed the servant to show him into her presence, and when he arrived he made her a formal offer to go to Boston to sing two songs at the Sunday night concert in Music hall. Besides all expenses she was to receive $500 enough to pay the offer singer. He said in a very direct voice that she did not care to accept. The agent made the figure $300. This was also refused by the actress, who at last said it would be quite impossible to accept the offer, as she had promised to dine that Sunday evening with a friend. The agent withdrew, and the actress went on talking to her visitor about herself. Less than ten years ago this same woman who refused to sing two songs for $300 was running about the back room of a shop in a cotton wrapper, while her parents looked like slaves for money enough to buy her a decent dress. The daughter can now sleep all day and rest as many months in the year as she chooses, for she earns a salary of $500 a week for forty weeks in the year.—Chicago Herald.
